73X & 73XNW SERIES OF MARKING INKS

To whom it may concern,

Our 73X and 73XNW Series of inks is the same exact product, there is no difference in the composition of the ink. Aerospace companies added the "NW" for their own identifications many years ago, the extra "NW" stayed with some of the specifications and drawings.

If you are doing a job, and the drawing specifies 73X, then you need to order 73X. If the job or drawing specifies 73XNW, then you need to order 73XNW.

It is up to the aerospace company that you are doing the job for to inform you what should be purchased, as they will have already tested and approved either 73X or 73XNW.

Thank you,

Barry Brucker
